Eidetic Memory

passive · Available · Requires: INT 40+
Effect: You may automatically recall ordinary information that your character personally and clearly observed, read, heard, or learned. No roll is required merely to remember that information. An INT-based roll may still be required when the information was only partially perceived, deliberately concealed, experienced while severely distracted, or when extremely precise details are important. Eidetic Memory does not provide knowledge you never acquired, reveal information you failed to perceive, or grant understanding of something simply because you remember it.
